Roofing problems? Call Mark Close Roofing & Construction Inc.!

Many people have found out how tricky water can be. Since the first ice storm and weeks of rain, it has proven to be a wet winter and spring. We have done more repairs this year than ever before. The ice was treacherous causing a variety of problems for home and building owners.

We provide metal roof restorations, which consist of coating systems as well as Polyurethane foam systems. During the ice storm, many of the areas metal roofs were presented with problems that had never occurred before. The ice caused dams at the pipes edges and at the laps. We have done numerous metal roof repairs as well as many total restorations due to this problem.

On the Modified and rubber roofs, the weight of the ice broke loose many of the seams. On these roofs, we either provide foam or patch with hot tar. With the heavy and numerous rains, many roofs that had never leaked are now leaking.

We at Mark Close Roofing & Construction Inc. are committed to being able to take care of all types of roofing problems. We are expanding our repair division of the Company to be able to accommodate the minor problems as well as the major roofing problems that people are now facing.

So no matter how large or small your roofing problems, you can count on Mark Close Roofing & Construction Inc. to take care of your roofing needs.

Mark Close Roofing & Construction Inc. was established in 1988. We have done some large projects in this area from churches and apartment complexes to some of the largest homes in the area.

On our commercial side, we are certified through Conklin Roofing System, B.A.S.F. Foam Enterprise foam roof system, and we are also active members of the Spray Polyurethane Foam Alliance and the National Roofing Contractors Association.

On our residential side, we are certified through GAF the largest shingle manufacturer in the world. Since we are a certified installer, we can offer warranties that not many other companies can. In fact only 6% of roofing company's that apply can be certified. The reason so few can qualify is due to the strict standards GAF requires of their contractors. For instance, you have to have a long proven record. Every year we see new roofing companies pop up, and every year we see them fizzle out. Mark Close Roofing has been doing roofs for going on twenty years now. We have been here and are staying here for the duration. So, just because you receive a little cheaper bid or you meet a high-pressure salesman, just think about if you have a roofing problem later down the road, will these companies still be here to honor the warranty? When you use Mark Close Roofing & Construction Inc., we stand behind our warranties and will still be here.
