Dear Doctor,

I am pleased to announce that the Johns Hopkins Liver Transplant Program will now be available to evaluate patients for liver transplantation at the Montgomery Liver Disease Center (MLDC) in Silver Spring, MD.

Established in 2007, MLDC directed by David B. Doman, MD is a subsidiary of Montgomery Gastroenterology and is the first center in Montgomery County, Maryland to provide focused state-of-the-art care for patients with acute or chronic liver disease.

Starting June 5, 2007, Dr. Warren Maley, Director of the Johns Hopkins Liver Transplant Program, will be seeing patients at the Silver Spring location, 12012 Veirs Mill Road (Phone 301-942-3550) on the first Tuesday afternoon of the month.

We are excited to offer your patients the convenience of local liver disease and transplantation services.

If you have any other questions or would like additional information about liver transplantation patient education materials, please call me directly at 410-614-5477.

Sincerely yours,

Brigitte Reeb
